and constant intermarriage, this diversity has been maintained to the present time.¹ On the other hand, the relationship of aunt, applied and restricted to the father's sister, is found in the system of the Tuscaroras and Wyandotes. In the former it is Ahk-kaw'-rac, in the latter Ah-rä'-hoc, which are evidently the Seneca Ah-ga'-huc dialectically changed. This fact suggests the question, before stated, whether the Wyandotes, Tuscaroras, and Senecas, are not more immediately connected, genetically, than the Senecas and other Iroquois nations. The Tuscarora and Wyandote dialects are much further removed from the Seneca than the latter is from those of the remaining nations: but it is possible that this may be explained by the long separation of the former from the Iroquois, which would tend to increase the variation, whilst the constant association of the Senecas with their confederates would tend to retard their dialectical separation. It is one thing to borrow a term of relationship and substitute it in the place of a domestic term of equivalent import, but quite a different undertaking to change an established relationship and invent a new term for its designation. The first might occur and not be extraordinary, but the latter would be much less likely to happen. Among the traditions of the Senecas there is one to the effect that they had a distinct and independent history anterior to the epoch of their confederation with the other Iroquois nations. This feature in their system of relationship, and which is shared by the Tuscaroras and Wyandotes, and not by their immediate associates, tends to confirm the tradition, as well as to suggest the inference that the Senecas, Tuscaroras, and Wyandotes, were of immediate common origin. It has been referred to, not so much for its intrinsic importance as for the illustration which it furnishes of the uses of systems of consanguinity and affinity for minute ethnological investigations through periods of time far beyond the range of historical records

7. Two Mountain Iroquois.

The location and antecedents of this fragment of the Iroquois stock were referred to in the early part of this chapter. Their system agrees substantially with that of the Oneidas and Mohawks; and is chiefly interesting as an illustration of the ability of the system to perpetuate itself in disconnected branches of the same stock.²

¹ Descent amongst the Iroquois is in the female line both as to tribe and as to nationality. The children are of the tribe of the mother. If a Cayuga marries a Delaware woman, for example, his children are Delawares and aliens, unless formally naturalized with the forms of adoption: but if a Delaware marries a Cayuga woman, her children are Cayugas, and of her tribe of the Cayugas. It is the same if she marries a Seneca. In all cases the woman confers her tribe and nationality upon her children. She will also adhere to the Cayuga system of relationship on the point under consideration. For seventy years the Cayugas, still living in Western New York, have resided with the Senecas, and constantly intermarried with them; but they still retain their dialect, tribes, nationality, and relationships. In 1858 I asked a Cayuga woman on one of the Seneca reservations in what relationship her father's sister stood to her. She replied, "My mother." I expressed a doubt of her correctness, but she adhered to her answer. She gave me the Seneca name for aunt in the Cayuga dialect, but denied the relationship. I afterwards found the same deviation from the Seneca form amongst the Onondagas, Oneidas, and Mohawks.

² There are Mohawks, Onondagas, Oneidas, and Cayugas now residing upon the Thames River in Canada West. Besides these, there are Oneidas and Onondagas near Green Bay in Wisconsin, and also Senecas in Kansas. The Iroquois in New York now number about 4000.

II. Hurons. 1. Wyandotes.

A brief notice of the Hurons and of their descendants, the Wyandotes, has already been given. They were called Wane'-dote by the Iroquois, which name they afterwards adopted for themselves.¹ The Wyandotes affirm that the Dakotas are descended from them, which must be understood simply as an assertion of their genetic connection. They call the Dakotas Tũn-da'-no. This was the name, still preserved in Wyandote tradition, of the chief under whom the Dakotas separated themselves from the Wyandotes. It signifies "Big Stomach." The Dakotas themselves, it is said, still recognize the relationship, and style the Wyandotes Brothers.

Their system of relationship will be found in the Table. It has all of the indicative features of the common system, and agrees with the Seneca so completely that its presentation in detail would be, for the most part, a literal repetition of the description just given. The terms of relationship, in nearly every instance, are from the same roots as the Seneca; and although the dialectical variation, in some cases, is quite marked, their identity is at once recognized. This, however, is of less importance than the coincidence of the radical features of their respective systems. A comparison of the two forms shows that the system in all its precision and complexity, with the same original terms of relationship, now prevails in both nations; and that it has descended to each, with the streams of the blood, from the same common source. For two hundred and fifty years, within the historical period, these nations have been separate and hostile, and were for an unknown period anterior to their discovery, and yet the system has been preserved by each, through the intervening periods, without sensible change. The fact itself is some evidence of the stability and persistency of its radical forms. Its existence in the Hodenosaunian branch of the Ganowánian family carries it back to the time when these several nations were a single people.

The most remarkable fact with reference to this system of relationship yet remains to be mentioned, namely, that indicative feature for indicative feature, and relationship for relationship, almost without an exception, it is identical with the system now prevailing amongst the Tamil, Telugu, and Canarese peoples of South India, as will hereafter be fully shown. The discrepancies between them are actually less, aside from the vocables, than between the Seneca and the Cayuga.

The comparative table of the Seneca-Iroquois and Yankton-Dacota systems of relationship, referred to at page 154, is appended to this chapter.

When the Minnitarees reached the Upper Missouri they found the Mandans, as the traditions of the latter affirm, in the possession of the country; and they were allowed to take up their residence apart, but near them, on the river as a friendly people. Although the Mandan tradition asserts that the Minnitarees "came out of the water to the east," it seems highly probable that they were originally from the region of the Gulf of Mexico, and that they are one of the connecting links between the Choctas and Creeks, and the Dakota nations. There is some evidence in their respective systems of relationship tending to the same conclusion. On the other hand, the Mandans were not intrusive, but established on the north of their nearest congeners, the Dakota and Missouri nations. They had been forced in later years by the hostility of the Dakotas further up the river, as the remains of their old villages, still to be seen, as well as their own accounts attest. The Mandans now call themselves Me-too'-ta-häk, "South Villages," which implies their displacement from a more southern location. They could have learned neither agriculture nor house building from the Dakotas, as the latter knew nothing of cultivation, or of house architecture; nor yet of the in the system of the Algonkin nations. It likewise follows, as a further inference that the Minnitaree, Crow, Mandan, Winnebago and Missouri nations may have been derived mediately or immediately from a single nation; that the Gulf and Prairie nations may each have been derived from a single nation; and that the three original nations may have sprung from a common stem-people still further back. In this manner the evidence from special features contained in the system is reconciled with the evidence from identity of vocables in the dialects first-named; leaving it probable that the Minnitarees and Crows form the nearest connecting link between the nations of the Gulf, and those upon the Missouri.

* In this connection, attention may be directed to the dialects thus far named, taken collectively, as they appear in the Table. The people are classified together as belonging to the Dakotan stem. There is such a thing in the Ganowánian dialects as contrast and similarity in vocables; as excessive deviation and family resemblance; and as ancient and modern separation of stock languages. It can be detected and traced long after the vocables themselves have lost their identity. From first to last, among the great branches thus far considered, the terms of relationship have a family cast; a tendency, so to express it, to reveal their identity, although deeply concealed; a certain similarity of aspect which arrests attention while it baffles the scrutiny thereby invited. On the other hand, the same terms in the Algonkin dialects, when compared, are in sharp contrast. They wear an unfamiliar appearance, expressive of long-continued separation. The change has become so excessive as to repel the supposition of their identity within a comparatively modern period, or that they could have been spoken in the same household for many ages. The following terms will illustrate the similarity to which reference has been made:—

Indian Nations.	Names by which they call themselves.	Persons by whom and Places where the Schedules were filled.
1. SENECA.	Nun-da'-wā-o-no, "Great Hill People."	Lewis H. Morgan, at Tonawanda Indian Reservation, New York, December, 1858, with the assistance of Miss Caroline G. Parker (Je-go'-sā-seh), an educated Seneca woman.
2. CAYUGA.	Gwe-u'-gweh-o-no', "People at the Mucky Land."	Lewis H. Morgan, at Tonawanda, July, 1859, with the assistance of a Cayuga woman, and Miss Parker as interpreter.
3. ONONDAGA.	O-nun'-dā-ga-o-no', "People on the Hills."	Lewis H. Morgan, at Rochester, New York, October, 1859, with William Buck, an educated Onondaga.
4. ONEIDA.	O-na'-yote-kā-o-no', "Granite People."	1. Lewis H. Morgan, at Oneida Centre, New York, May, 1860, with Jas. Christian, an Oneida Indian. 2. L. H. Morgan, at Albany, New York, February, 1861, with Henry Jordan, of St. Regis Reservation, half Oneida and half Mohawk.
5. MOHAWK.	Gā-ne-ā'-ga-o-no', "People possessors of the Flint."	1. Lewis H. Morgan, at Tonawanda, January, 1860, with a Mohawk from Grand River, Canada West. 2. At Albany, February, 1861, with Henry Jordan.
6. TUSCARORA.	Dus-ga'-o-weh-o-no', "Shirt-wearing People."	1. Lewis H. Morgan, at Tonawanda, January, 1860, with a Tuscarora woman, assisted by Isaac Doctor, interpreter. 2. From Cornelius C. Cusick, of Tuscarora Reservation, a Tuscarora Indian, August, 1860. A partial schedule.
7. TWO MOUNTAIN IROQUOIS.	(Mohawks and Oneidas.)	Lewis H. Morgan, at Pomme de Terre, Minnesota, July, 1861, with a Two Mountain Iroquois, then returning from the Hudson's Bay territory.
8. WYANDOTE.	Wane-dote', "Calf of the Leg." This name was given to them by the Iroquois, and adopted by them. It relates to their manner of stringing buffalo-meat.	Lewis H. Morgan, at Wyandote Reservation, Kansas, June, 1859, with the assistance of Matthew R. Walker and William Walker, educated half-blood Wyandotes.
9. DAKOTA, ISAUNTIE.	I-saun-tie'. They formerly lived at I-saṇ-tam-de, or Knife Lake. Hence, probably, the name, as Riggs conjectures.	Rev. Stephen R. Riggs, Missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, made at the Dakota Indian Mission, Pajutaze, Minnesota, March, 1859.
10. DAKOTA, YANKTON.	Yank-ton', "Village at the End." (Riggs.)	Lewis H. Morgan, at Rulo Half-Breed Reservation, Nebraska Territory, June, 1859, with the assistance of a Yankton woman, and Charles Rulo as interpreter.
